LIVE THE DIVINITY AT [BARSANA]

LAND KISSED BY Devotion

Barsana is a town in the Braj region of India, significant as the legendary birthplace and home of Hindu goddess Radha, the eternal consort of Lord Krishna. The town is centered around the historical Radha Rani Temple on Bhanugarh hill, which is a major pilgrimage site. Historically known as "Vrishabhanupur," it is also the place where Radha was brought up and where Krishna would visit her, and the Kirti Mandir is dedicated to her mother, Kirti Maiya.

Birthplace of Radha: While some legends place Radha's birth in Raval, Barsana is widely considered her home where she was born to King Vrishabhanu and Queen Kirti Maiya.

Radha Rani Temple: The town's main attraction is the Radha Rani Temple, also known as the Shreeji temple, which is believed to be 5000 years old.

Cultural and Religious Significance: Barsana is a major pilgrimage destination due to its deep connection with Radha and Krishna. The town's name is derived from Vrishabhanu, Radha's father.

Other Landmarks: Besides the Radha Rani Temple, the Kirti Mandir is a notable temple dedicated to Radha's mother.

Festivals: The town is especially important during religious festivals like Radhashtami, which marks the end of the Manimahesh Yatra, and Holi

The Soul of Spiritual India
Aanandam
V A L L E E Y

A Township inspired by the timeless culture of Barsana. More than just a place to live, it's a way of life where heritage, peace, and modern comforts come together.

Every corner of Aanandam Valleeey reflects balance of tradition and progress, of nature and architecture, of personal space and community. Here, families don't just settle, they belong.

Aanandam Valleeey is a landmark project from Kadamshree Developers India Pvt. Ltd., a name inspired by Shri Radha Rani's favourite flower, the sacred Kadamba flower. In mythology, this tree provided an enchanted setting for the celestial love of Radha and Krishna.

WHERE STORIES OF LOVE STILL

Breathe

For centuries, Radha and Krishna's eternal bond has inspired hearts across the world. From the playful colors of Lathmar Holi to the devotion of Radhashtami, Barsana's spirit celebrates love in its purest form. Here, every festival is a reminder that joy, beauty, and togetherness are part of life itself.
